

PRIVACY POLICY

FOR THE YEAR OF 2021

In order to conduct business, Skyline Financial Northwest collects information from its clients, which may be considered “non-public information”. This information may include but is not limited to things such as birthdates, social security numbers, account numbers, or account balances. This information will be used internally or disclosed to third parties only to serve your account in a capacity specifically agreed to by you. Except where required or permitted by law, we will not share your information with a third party, without express consent from you.

In addition, we will restrict access to any information you share with us to employees or officers of Skyline Financial Northwest that must use it to service your account or to fulfill our legal administrative needs (eg: accounting, disclosure, privacy policy updates, etc.). We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to comply with federal standards to guard your personal information.

If at any time you would like a copy of our Disclosure Brochure, please contact us using the information below.